Your company's ONETEAM account is set-up with your own private, secure, Internet domain. You don't login at thebluebook.com or ONETEAM.build. You login at your own ONETEAM dedicated website using your email address and password.

You can register as many users at your company that you need. There are no limitations and everyone can use ONETEAM for free.

Before you start using ONETEAM, we can upload your company's private list of subcontractors and suppliers. Although you can send us the list in any format – digital or print – the process is faster when you send it as a CSV file or in an Excel spreadsheet.

If any of your subcontractors or suppliers are missing an email, we can provide that information if they are a member of The Blue Book Network.
